Reading Comprehension

There are times when fear is good for us. In fact, fear can save a person's life. Take a man in danger, for example. He may suddenly find he can run faster and longer than he ever thought he could. It is because his fear is helping him. Here is what happens when we feel fear; a change takes place in our bodies. Our livers give off some of the sugar that they store. This sugar goes into the blood and is quickly changed into energy. And it is this energy that gives more strength and helps us act fast. This is how fear may save one's life.
